Total download size: 616MB Total game length: 51:00 Cover included, liner notes not included How do you follow the debut album that made you the band's biggest American breakthrough in the early 2010s? Like this. The Las Vegas quartet hasn't strayed sharply from its multi-platinum blend of modern rock energy, pop hooks, and RCB-influenced production, but they mix things up enough to keep the momentum ahead. I'm So Sorry, revolves around power hard rock riffs, while the single Gold throws a bit of Latin music influence into an infectious groove. Dream moves forward on the gentle piano chords and frontman Dan Reynolds' soulful crowns. By the time things close to the ethereal Fall, it's a triumphant sophomore album from a band that refuses to be pigeonholed.
